

PUBLIC LEDGER

FOURTH YEAR.

MAYSVILLE, KY., WEDNESDAY, JUNE 5, 1895.

Purely Business!

The columns of a newspaper represent a valuable property which can afford to give advertising "notices" free any more than a merchant can afford to give away his goods or services. A newspaper is a trade paper, and its value depends upon its stock in trade, and advertisements should be paid for, no matter what part of the paper they appear.

The Continued Call

upon THE Ledger for free notices concerning the consequences that we are forced to publish the following terms:

For Notices of Suspers, announcements, fares, or other public enter-tainments where a fee is charged, and for ordinary notices, resulting from the publication of which will cause FIVE CENTS A LINE, and hereafter this is the irreducible rate. This, however, notices of Lodge meetings or Church services, which we must not accept on account of the time required.

Does Not Include

Avoidance of Disputes.

Misunderstandings are unpleasant. The rate for Business leads in The PUBLIC LEDGER is $100 per insertion and 5 cents a line for subscriptions. We will not charge more than a five-line local inserted in the paper. "I'll tell you when to take it off," said the man who had been so forcible all about it. The notice runs $100 per insertion and 5 cents a line. When he finds it out there is $100 per insertion and 5 cents a line, probably as many as my feelings. Now, to obviate this trouble, no "will forward" will be published unless the author has a definite agreement at the outset, and the compensation will be pleasure all around.

Editor's Note: All notices for publications must be handed in before 9 o'clock in the morning of each day.

Editor's Note: If you have friends visiting you, or if you're going away on a trip, please drop us a note to let us know.

Mr. J. W. Parker of Lane, Kas., is in the city.

The advertising column of The LEDGER speak for themselves. They show that people who know how to advertise know also where to advertise.

The drawn man, who seemed to be an entire stranger in this city, came down the river in a skiff Monday morning and landed here.

He got in with a gang that lounge about Wall street and drank pretty freely all the forenoon.

In the afternoon he, in company with Joe Bode, Sr., John Gels, William Setzer, "Keno" Mass, Kirk Gilbert and Clay Meesa, bought a keg of beer and took it over to the willows on the Ohio side to drink it.

When the keg was emptied the crowd was all pretty drunk, the stranger remarkably so.

Gels, Gilbert and the unknown man started to come to this side of the river, and when near the Kentucky side the skiff was overturned and the unknown man was drowned, Gels and Gilbert saving themselves by swimming ashore.

Gilbert and Gels both say that the man lost his balance and in falling over upset the boat; but Constable Dawson went to work on the case and says he has a witness who will testify that Gels and Gilbert brought the drunken man to this side and then demanded his money, and on his refusing to give it up threatened to take him out in the river and throw him into it, which they eventually did.

Gels has always borne a good reputation, and was appointed by Judge Hutchins several months ago to a Constabulary in Magisterial District No. 1, but resigned, and it is to be hoped that the story is untrue.

Gels and Gilbert were arrested by Constable Dawson yesterday morning and lodged in jail.

They were taken before Squire Bramel, in the absence of Judge Hutchins, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and on motion of their attorneys their hearing was postponed to this morning at 9 o'clock.

John and Joe Harrison, fishermen, who were dragging for the body of the unfortunate man all day yesterday, were rewarded by finding it at 7 o'clock last evening about twenty feet from where he sank.

WEDDED AT 8 A.M.

Mr. John W. Debolt of Paris and Miss Tillie Brodt.

The cozy and hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. John Brodt on the Flemingville pike several miles from this city was the scene of a remarkably pretty event at 8 o'clock this morning, the occasion being the marriage of their daughter, Miss June, to Mr. John W. Debolt, a prosperous young business man of Paris.

Rev. D. P. Holt of the M. E. Church of this city spoke the magic words which made the happy young couple man and wife in the presence of a host of relatives and friends.

After a brief wedding tour, Mr. and Mrs. Debolt will take up their residence at Paris.

A SERIOUS CHARGE.

JON BEIS AND KIRK GILBERT ARE IN JAIL BEING HELD FOR MURDER.

The accidental drowning of an unknown man, who claimed Pittsburgh as his home, in the river below this city Monday afternoon, an account of which appeared in The LEDGER, turns out to be a very bad piece of business for the men who were with him at the time, if all reports are true.

The drowned man, who seemed to be an entire stranger in this city, came down the river in a skiff Monday morning and landed here.

He got in with a gang that lounge about Wall street and drank pretty freely all the forenoon.

In the afternoon he, in company with Joe Bode, Sr., John Gels, William Setzer, "Keno" Mass, Kirk Gilbert and Clay Meesa, bought a keg of beer and took it over to the willows on the Ohio side to drink it.

When the keg was emptied the crowd was all pretty drunk, the stranger remarkably so.

A Short Wool Crop.

Winchester Democrat.

T. Jeff Quisenberry received the last of his wool purchase here last week and returned to Lexington. Mr. Quisenberry bought in all 18,000 pounds. The wool clip in Clark is the shortest for many years, the estimate this year being less than 30,000 pounds. The clip is usually about 135,000 pounds and some years has reached 175,000.

The beautifully situated and truly hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Marshall—"Cottage Cliff"—near Lewiston was the scene of a most auspicious event last night.

The daughter of the household became the bride of Rev. M. B. Adams, the popular and talented Pastor of the Baptist Church of that little city.

As early as 6 o'clock the guests began to arrive, and at the hour of 7 o'clock guests to the number of about 800 had taken their stand upon the velvet carpet, spread by nature over the lawn preparatory to the ceremony which would soon follow.

While waiting we thought how expressively beautiful was the night, how kind had been the elements, for sometime before the heat had been intense, but for this event the giver of all good had poured out upon weary earth and parched fields most refreshing showers, so that it was as though the woods and fields and trees and sky had decked selves in royal robes to honor this union, while streaming through the sentinels of the forest the moon looked down with happy smiles, and here and there the little elf of winds whisked by to fan the flushed cheek of envious maids who stood near by, hearts beating the silent soliloquy—when I shall stand to hear those words and answer make of vows most true to him who shall my future keep.

Softly through the window comes the strains of the piano. Gently the music falls upon the summer breeze, and to its marital beat the preachers appear. Rev. R. G. Patrick and Rev. Mr. Hibbs. Immediately following them comes the central object of the event, the bride and groom, she beautiful and fair, with queenly manner and most charming presence, while he of handsome face and dignified mien, bearing his honor full upon him. Advancing to the vineclad porch, and facing the reverend gentlemen, the ceremony began which binds with golden links the future of Mae Marshall and Rev. M. B. Adams. Congratulations follow, and the guests repair to the dining-room where the wedding edibles are enjoyed.

The presents were numerous, costly and useful, consisting of cutlery in bowls, water bottles, vases, pitchers, lamp in Dresden china, brass, brass and silver spoons, knives and forks, table linen, bedroom furniture, checks, flowers, and a varied number of other useful gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams took no tour but repaired at once to their new home—the parsonage of the Church—where the parsonage of the Church—where the parsonage was built upon which they were so auspiciously launched but a few hours ago.

May God guide their bark in the trash path of peace, joy and long life, and in the evening may they land in the haven of eternal rest.

The Ashland News came into camp and graciously acknowledges that our team is too swift for his wonders, but he has a wall coming. "The home team arrived from Mayville Friday night with to kick coming. They are engaged with quilting and the Mayville aggregation was just a little too speedy for them. The fact that the Mayville aggregation is now being held together at an expense of several hundred dollars a month ought itself to be a sufficient argument in their favor. However, the present fast team will not be maintained all summer, as the coming week will see some of their men take to other fields. Then when the team narrows down to home talent, as it eventually will, the home boys will have an opportunity to get down to work and wipe up the earth with them."

When Did the War End?

Secretary Reynolds, who held that John Barleyoung was entitled to pension because he was disabled April, 1865, has since discovered that he was not disabled until August 1st, 1866, the date of President Johnson's proclamation of peace. The Supreme Court has held that this latter date was the time of the official ending of hostilities. In consequence Barleyoung's case will probably be re-opened.

ROCK AT A CHURCH.

A Free Fight at the Close of a Temperance Meeting Near Princeton.

A fatal rock occurred at the Five Forks Church, Robertson County, Sunday night.

There is an effort being made in that county to repeal a local option law now in force, and both sides are making a hard fight, and everything pertaining to temperature is at a white heat.

Sunday night there was a temperance meeting at the above place, when part of the opposing factions engaged in a general war.

Rock pistols and brass knucks were used freely, and when the war was over it was found that Richard Mullikin, a bystander, who took no part in the fight, had his skull crushed and is now in a dangerous condition, with little chance of recovery.

Ora Mullikin and Samuel Moore were also seriously but not dangerously hurt.

AMERICA FOR AMERICANS AND AMERICANS

MCKINLEY AND WILSON ABROAD.

In 1890 William McKinley was burned in effigy in the English manufacturing city of Sheffield; but in 1894 William L. Wilson was dined and seated in London because he is the author of a Free-trade Tariff Bill. These are significant facts.

THE SILVER PROBLEM.

Commercial Gazette.

Farmer Anderson has two thousand bushels of wheat.

Mr. Jones has a thousand dollars worth of silver bullion.

Mr. Anderson's wheat is worth in the market $1,000.

So is Mr. Jones's silver bullion.

Mr. Jones goes to Philadelphia, takes his silver to the Mint and has it coined into two thousand fine, pretty silver dollars.

When Farmer Anderson brings along his thousand dollars worth of wheat, Mr. Jones buys it, paying him $1,000—and he has $1,000 left with which to buy the wheat of the next farmer that comes along.

This is free coinage. Some people are sure that all the farmers in the country are shouting for it.

We should see a good many strange things in this country if the silver people should have their way.

REPUBLICAN DELEGATION NINTH DISTRICT.
PURSUANT TO Rule 19 of the "Rules of the House," the Organization of Representatives of the Ninth Congressional District of the Ninth Congressional District will be held in Convention Hall, Louisville, Ky., June 4th, 1895, at 10 o'clock a.m. in Hall "C," third floor. Prompt attendance of the delegates at each hour is important and desired.

Ed. DAW.

Chairman Ninth Congressional District, Brookville, Ky., May 2d, 1895.

DURING the last quarter of a century England's export trade of home produce has decreased from £195,000,000 a year in 1892 to £143,000,000 a year in 1894—falling off of almost 25 per cent. This is the example that the Free-traders desire this country to follow.

FOR the first nine months of the Wilson Tariff Act, that is from September 1st, 1894, to June 1st, 1895, the receipts were $212,646,646 27, and during the first nine months of the McKinley Law, that is from October 1st, 1890, to July 1st, 1891, the receipts aggregated $268,534,736, showing that the present law has produced $7,435,129 73 less in revenue.

In making their comparisons of the revenue-producing qualities of the two laws, the Democrats have calculated the McKinley receipts during the period just prior to its repeal, when they were necessarily small, because of the hard times and the prospective repeal and the enactment of a law with lower duties.

The customs receipts for the nine months mentioned under the McKinley Law were $153,217,603 31 and under the present law but $120,389,709 20, a difference in favor of the McKinley Act of $32,830,891 72.

The internal revenue receipts for the first nine months of the McKinley Law were $105,766,198 32, and of this law $75,966,811 13, a difference in favor of the McKinley Law of $30,800,887 28.

For the first nine months of the McKinley Law the miscellaneous receipts of the Government were $24,839,976 30 and for the same period of the operations of this law but $18,060,925 55, a difference in favor of the McKinley Law of $16,773,050 75.

DURING the last quarter of a century England's export trade of home produce has decreased from £195,000,000 a year in 1892 to £143,000,000 a year in 1894—falling off of almost 25 per cent. This is the example that the Free-traders desire this country to follow.

FOR the first nine months of the Wilson Tariff Act, that is from September 1st, 1894, to June 1st, 1895, the receipts were $212,646,646 27, and during the first nine months of the McKinley Law, that is from October 1st, 1890, to July 1st, 1891, the receipts aggregated $268,534,736, showing that the present law has produced $7,435,129 73 less in revenue.

In making their comparisons of the revenue-producing qualities of the two laws, the Democrats have calculated the McKinley receipts during the period just prior to its repeal, when they were necessarily small, because of the hard times and the prospective repeal and the enactment of a law with lower duties.

The customs receipts for the nine months mentioned under the McKinley Law were $153,217,603 31 and under the present law but $120,389,709 20, a difference in favor of the McKinley Act of $32,830,891 72.

The internal revenue receipts for the first nine months of the McKinley Law were $105,766,198 32, and of this law $75,966,811 13, a difference in favor of the McKinley Law of $30,800,887 28.

For the first nine months of the McKinley Law the miscellaneous receipts of the Government were $24,839,976 30 and for the same period of the operations of this law but $18,060,925 55, a difference in favor of the McKinley Law of $16,773,050 75.

THOMAS MORAN,
of Chicago, Ex-Judge of the Appellate Court,

Has Been Offered the Attorney Generalship of the United States.

He Has Undoubtedly Accepted the Position—One of Judge Moran's Law Partners Says That Offer Has Been Made to the Head of the Firm.

CHICAGO, June 5.—The Chronicle Tuesday says: "Thomas Moran, ex-judge of the Appellate court, and head of the law firm of Moran, Krans & Mayer, has been offered, and has undoubtedly accepted, the attorney generalship of the United States." This news came from Washington Monday as a part of the proposed changes in President Cleveland's cabinet. Moran is the senior member of State Department's portfolio of state, according to the best obtainable authority, to be given to the present attorney general, Mr. Olney, of Boston. The resulting vacancy in the attorney general's office is to be filled by ex-Judge Moran of Chicago.

"It was said positively by one of Judge Moran's law partners Monday evening that the offer of the attorney general's portfolio had been made to the head of the firm. This offer, the Chronicle says, came from J. M. Moran, and the other members of the law firm Monday, the probability of Mr. Moran's acceptance of the cabinet position was fully discussed.

The offer was rejected.

Judge Moran would consent to join the cabinet circle his law interest in Chicago should not suffer to the extent of a severance of his present connection with the firm of Moran, Krans & Mayer.

When we saw Tuesday evening Judge Moran said: "Until there is a vacancy in the office of attorney general it would not be proper for me to discuss how such a vacancy might be filled."

Mrs. C. C. Dogman left Monday morning for Cincinnati, accompanied by Dr. Elmer Pelsman, who will receive special treatment in a private hospital for granulated erysipelas.

The Boe of the machine that was buried on Saturday last has passed in the hands of Superintendent Blasterman a protest, written with pencil, in which he alleges certain illegal and unscrupulous methods were used by the men of the good people of our School District. Verily, there was no blood on the pollbooks, which have been duly registered, and the machine was never registered.

A book, the property of this School District, examined on election day, disclosed some curious facts, among them the following: In favor of the school board, Maysville to Spencer, 100 feet from iron cap, Mayfield to Spencer, 100 feet. Query: It cost $1 to get said number to Springfield, how much more did it cost to get it over the mountains to the schools? The cost of the iron cap was $100 for $30 each. Were they as much out of proportion as the first? But the cap itself seems to us, is the hill for $10 and some odd cents for painting. Then went we to our schoolroom, even painted and whitewashed, and found a box to have been purchased of George T. Wood to the value of $20 or $22. The taxpayers of this District are likely to ask several questions in view of these developments.

The Owensboro Inquirer complains of an epidemic of neuralgia in that city.

The Grand Jury of Adair county returned 130 indictments during its recent session. Of this number seventy-four were for selling liquor in violation of law.

The marriage of Miss Nannie Conley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Conley, to Mr. J. F. Ryan will take place June 12th, at 3 p.m., at the Catholic Church, Maysville.

The late Secretary Gresham had not drawn his pension of $300 a month for several years before his death. An accumulation of $1,100 will be paid to Mrs. Gresham.

Edward Collins, a respected citizen of Robertson county, died Monday morning at the advanced age of 88 years. He was not ill, and had not been ill in his life. He was quite wealthy.

Seretary Carlisle will not be able to return to Kentucky until next week, being detained in Washington by important official business. He will probably speak in Louisville next Tuesday night.

Some one is responsible for every ruined life, responsible in many ways. Surely there need not be so many criminals, so many useless, aimlessly drifting through life if parents and guardians would make home discipline a study and act in accordance with the best knowledge they can glean on the subject.

The excessively hot weather coming immediately after the tobacco season a little over a week ago has killed a great many of the plants then set out around Owingsville. As this was a good percentage of the acreage to be set out, it has materially diminished the prospects of a full crop in that vicinity. The greater part of last year's crop of tobacco is still in the hands of the raisers, however.
